OGDEN.

The announcement made the last day of the old year of the engagement of Miss Evelyn Armida Corey to Claude Roberts by the parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Corey, was an affair in which many people in this city and in Salt Lake as well took more than ordinary interest. The formal announcement was made at a gathering of the immediate girl friends of the bride at her home, 525 Twenty-sixth street, and occurred Wednesday afternoon. The parlor was prettily decorated and the announcement was put forth in a way decidedly unique and charming. The hostess presented each guest with a white cushion, which, on close examination, revealed a card on one side with the formal notice of the engagement written thereon. Each young lady was then furnished with a supply of dainty satin ribbons and under the apt instruction of the hostess was taught how to weave these over the groundwork and cover the cushion, as well as its message-fringed card, with a web of brightly-hued strands, thus transforming the gift into an article which, besides containing the announcement of the important event, was also a memento at once of the tact and originality of the hostess, and of her skillful fingers. The wedding of Miss Corey and Mr. Roberts is to be solemnized in February. The guests on the occasion of the announcement were: Misses Margaret Barr, Salt Lake; Avery Andrews, Eccles, Bowman, Wattie, Eayres, Hume, Bennett, Barrow, Selmon, Adams, Boreman, Higginbotham, Gwilliam, Wright, Annie Salmon.

The annual ball of the O. R. C. occurred Wednesday evening in the Conkey hall and proved an event of no small importance. The hall was prettily decorated with insignia of the order—railroad lanterns, and a most tasteful spread was served to the more than 200 couples in attendance.

The home of Miss Julia Wright was the scene of an enjoyable New Year's reception Thursday afternoon, when a number of Ogden's popular young ladies kept open house for their friends of the other sex. The room was prettily decorated with ferns and flowers and tasteful refreshments were served. The hostesses were Misses Wright, Barrows, Corey, Bennett, Eccles, Hume, Eayres. From 4 until 7 the young gentlemen, friends of the hostesses, availed themselves of the hospitality afforded.

Monday evening the Sunday school board of Weber stake gave a ball at Dugan's academy, which was largely attended and a great social success.

Mrs. John J. McGowan and Mrs. Alma Lambert returned to Salt Lake early in the week and have entertained Miss Lulu Bell of this city for a few days.

Thursday a matinee dance and a grand ball were given at Dugan's hall, both events being well attended.

Friday evening, in the Dugan academy, the high school gave a ball, ushering in their series of New Year festivities with a most elaborate event. The hall was prettily decorated with the school colors, orange and black, and with ferns and cut flowers. Refreshments were served.

Tuesday morning, at the home of the bride's mother, Miss Grace Emerson was united in marriage to Fred W. Thacker, and the couple left the same day for Los Angeles, where they will spend the winter. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. I. Goshen, and the parlor of the Emerson home were prettily decorated for the occasion.

The New Year's matinee and ball at Conkey hall were well attended and enjoyable events.
